

Mrs. Johnson's Journal

Vol.3 Issue 22 Feb.14

Wow! What a fun week in kindergarten! We enjoyed sharing valentines and treats with our friends! We read a lot of fun books and played some valentine games. Thanks for your help getting valentines written out and also for the yummy treats for our party! Your support makes our kindergarten memories much more special!! Next week, we will be learning about Presidents' Day.

Literacy

This week our large group projects were, making valentine critter bags to collect our valentines in and making valentines for our families. During shared reading this week, we read Valentine stories. Slugs in Love was one of our favorites! During Daily 5, we wrote a silly story using beginning sounds. We listened to the books, The Hearts and Clifford's First Valentine's Day. Our handwriting letters this week were "U" and "K."

Writers Workshop

This week we started thinking about ideas for a personal narrative story about change over time. We will be writing a first, next, and last story about something that we have learned how to do or a way that we have changed. Our story will be 3 pages!

Math

In Math, we experimented with different measuring tools. We tried out a ruler, a yardstick, and a tape measure and talked about which tools would be good for which jobs. We also played a number grid partner game and did a valentine number grid hunt.

SOCIAL STUDIES / GUIDANCE

This week we read the book, All Our Welcome, which talked about celebrating and welcoming differences in others. We learned how to say welcome in Hebrew (Shalom) and got to decorate a flag with our new greeting. Mrs. Stewart also taught us about celebrating differences during our guidance lesson.
